Internet Administrative Access Rights Agreement

Administrative Access Rights can be given to certain individuals who have petitioned access to certain areas of the Internet for the use of further enhancing the delivery of student educational materials and content, based on the following conditions:

- This access is a privilege, not a right.
- The educator understands that the access rights are exclusive to this individual only. Under no circumstances will the educator allow anyone (students or peers) to use the computer to which this access has been granted for Internet access.
- The Technology staff will set a system password upon request. The educator will be responsible for maintaining the password under his/her control and agrees not to share this password with anyone.
- Furthermore, the educator understands that by having Administrative Access Rights, their Internet use will be subject to routine monitoring by the Network Administrator for compliance purposes.
- This agreement does not entitle you to violate current district policies prohibiting music and/or video downloads (legal or not) and chat sites/applications, etc.

Violation of the above mentioned terms and conditions will be cause for immediate suspension of Administrative Access Rights and will prompt an access rights downgrade to the current 'Standard/Student' level.

I, _____ having read the above terms and conditions, am requesting that I be granted Administrative Access Rights to the Internet for the purpose of further enhancing the delivery of educational materials to students and/or to conduct personal business in my free time. I fully accept the terms of said agreement and will comply with each of the conditions.
